TAMMANY FINISHES SLATE FOR THIS FALL

Selects David H. Knott, a Hotel Owner, for Sheriff, and Renominates Swann.

DONNEGAN FOR REGISTER

John V. McAvoy to Run Against Ordway for the Supreme Court —O'Dwyer Named Again.

Tammany Hall, through its Executive Committee, completed its New York County and judicial slate yesterday. To the surprise of many of the faithful, Leader Charles F. Murphy picked a candidate for Sheriff who is as little known in the organization as is County Judge John F. Hylan, the Wigwam's Mayoralty candidate. He is David H. Knott, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Hotel Men's Association. It is said that he is interested in eleven hotels and apartment houses in the city and is a member of a syndicate which is constructing three large hotels at Atlantic City. His city address is 45 Fifth Avenue.

For District Attorney the present incumbent, Edward Swann, was designated. Mr. Swann, it was said, sent Mr. Murphy notice that he was not desirous of a Supreme Court nomination, but insisted upon a renomination as a vindication of the attacks that have been made upon his administration. For County Clerk William F. Schneider was designated for re-election. Mr. Schneider is Chairman of the Democratic Fusion Committee that selected Judge Hylan for Mayor, Charles L. Craig for Controller, and Sheriff Smith for President of the Board of Aldermen. For Register James A. Donnegan was selected. He is Chairman of the State Committee of the Independence League and present counsel to the County Clerk.

John V. McAvoy, now Judge of the City Court and a son of Thomas F. McAvoy, one of Mr Murphy's closest advisers, was selected as Tammany's candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court for the First District, to run against Justice Samuel H. Ordway. The candidates for the six places on the City Court bench are Edward F. O'Dwyer, Chief Justice, designated for re-election; Peter Schmuck, for re-election; Alexander Finelite, for re-election; John J. Walsh, for re-election, and Abraham G. Meyer, present Assistant District Attorney, and Louis A. Valente of 60 Wall Street.

Chief Justice O'Dwyer's designation caused some comment, for it was remembered that he headed a movement a few years ago to have Mr. Murphy deposed as leader of Tammany Hall, as well as suspended from the National Democratic Club. The quarrel, it was said, was made up some time ago. There are two Hearst men on the ticket, Meyer and Donnegan, and the Tammany leaders who resented the successful effort of Mr. Hearst to nominate Judge Hylan did not take either designation gracefully. In fact, they frankly said that it looked as if Mr. Hearst had "put another one over on the Chief." Mr. Valente represents Italian constituents, and is unknown in the organization. He was selected to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Ransom, who resigned to become counsel of the Public Service Commission. The term expires in 1921, while the other candidates are named for fourteen-year terms.

The selections of yesterday completed Tammany's city, county, and judicial slate, with the exception of Municipal Court candidates. While there is considerable dissatisfaction among the district leaders and the rank and file over the ticket, Mr. Murphy and his advisers expect it will subside before election. For Justices of the Municipal Court in the Fourth Municipal District, Michael F. Blake and Herman N. Kirke were designated.

A brisk fight developed over the selection of a Democratic county ticket in Brooklyn yesterday. Register Edward T. O'Loughlin demanded the designation for President of the borough, but John H. McCooey, the Democratic leader, told him he could have a renomination for Register or nothing. Mr. O'Loughlin continued refractory, and the Democrats went ahead and designated Edward Riegelman for Borough President, Representative Daniel J. Griffin for Sheriff, Richard Webster, a writer of The Brooklyn Times, for Register, and William J. Kelly, Edward Lazansky, and Richard S. Newcombe for Justices of the Supreme Court. Justice Kelly is on both the Democratic and Fusion tickets for renomination. Mr. O'Loughlin said last night that he would run in the primaries for the nomination for Borough President, either on the Democratic ticket or independently.

The Bronx Democrats yesterday selected James F. Donnelly as the candidate for Sheriff of that borough. He will be pitted against Eugene McGuire, the Fusion choice for Sheriff. Mr. McGuire is an independent Democrat, who split with Arthur H. Murphy, the Democratic County Chairman, four years ago. The Bronx Democratic ticket as it now stands is:

Borough President—Ropresentative HENRY BRUCKNER.
District Attorney—FRANCIS MARTIN.
County Clerk—JOSEPH M. CALLAHAN.
Register—EDWARD POLAK.
Sheriff—JAMES F. DONNELLY.

The Executive Committee of the Bronx County Democratic organization also decided upon Alderman Harry Robitzek and Justice Peter A. Shiel for Justice of the Municipal Court in the First District. They will oppose Julius Tobias and Justice John Royle, Jr., the Fusion nominees. In the Second District, Justice Michael J. Scanlan, a Democrat, will oppose Assistant Corporation Counsel Thomas G. Price, the Fusion nominee.

The Queens Democrats, it was said last night, will indorse Public Works Commissioner Richard S. Newcombe for Supreme Court Justice. County Judge Burt J. Humphrey and George Hanavan intend to enter both the Republican and Democratic primaries as candidates for this nomination.

Martin Mager, former County Clerk, will run independently for Borough President. He has been nominated by a combination of independents from all parties and his platform has been adapted from a platform that is being used by pacifist organizations throughout the borough.
