GEORGE M. PALMER OUT.

Minority Assembly Leader Not Renominated—Democratic Conventions.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Oct. 2.—George M. Palmer, the minority leader on the floor of the Assembly, who was kept off the Schoharie delegation to the Democfatic State Convention by the Hearst forces, was not renominated for the Assembly by the Democratic Convention which met at Middleburg to-day. Charles H. Holmes of Cobleskill was the nominee.

Opposition to Hearst is assigned as the cause of Mr. Palmer's defeat. Last Saturday the delegates of Cobleskill, his home town, were known to be against him, but friends throughout the county urged him to stand for renomination. He stayed in the race until noon to-day, when he withdrew without making any explanation.

At a convention of the Independence League, representing Albany, Schenectady, Watervliet, Green Island, and Cohoes, George C. Hisgen of Albany was selected to be nominated by petition to represent the Twenty-third District in Congress. A committee was named to confer with the local Democratic organization in regard to a fusion ticket for the other State and county officers.

The New York Times
Published: October 3, 1906
Copyright © The New York Times